Ex-Councilman Raspberry Supports Well

Editor's note: The following letter – dated June 17, 2000 – was written to Mr. Russell J. Harding, Director of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, by Mr. Jimmie C. Raspberry, ex-Councilman for the City of Romulus.

Dear Mr. Harding:

I am writing to you as a former Senior Romulus City Councilman in support of the Environmental Disposal Systems, Inc. (EDS) injection wells planned on Citrin Drive in Romulus.

It has been my honor and privilege to have served as a Romulus Constable and as a uniformed Police Officer from 1955 to 1961; a Romulus Trustee from 1961 to 1970; and as a Romulus City Councilman from 1970 to 1973, 1975 to 1985, and 1987 to 1997. I have served longer as a Romulus City Councilman than any other person. In addition, I have served as a member of the Romulus Planning Commission.

My responsibilities were to all of the citizens of Romulus, not just those who made the most noise. One of my responsibilities as a Councilman was to protect the health, safety, and welfare of our citizens. In the past, I fought hard against dumps, landfills, and other suspected polluters where there was just cause. I fought against Michigan Recovery, a toxic-waste company located less than a mile from my family and my home, because they had open lagoons filled with toxic waste. Now, they dump the waste down our sewer system, which then ends up back in our drinking waters. Instead of dumping down the sewer, they should use a deep-injection well to keep it out of the environment.

During the past ten years (since EDS first came to Romulus in 1990), I have taken the time to learn what I can about deep-injection wells. I have reviewed letters from your Geological Survey and Waste Management Divisions, as well as from the States of California, Colorado, Florida, Ohio, Louisiana, and Texas, and read reports from other EPA branch offices, from Canada, and from Professors of Geology at the University of Michigan and Western Michigan University. I have concluded that injection wells, such as the ones which EDS plans to construct on Citrin Drive, are safe for our community and will help clean up our environment by providing a source of safe and permanent disposal of toxic waste.

I have also concluded that if deep-injection wells were not safe, our state and federal governments would not allow them to be built and operated, and our university professors would not sign their names to reports which say that the wells are safe. This is only logical. We citizens must rely on our government and university experts in such matters—the alternative would be chaos.

The first EDS injection well has been built and, I understand, tested to determine if it is safe. Surely, the test results speak for themselves—either the well is safe or it isn't. I expect that your department has now made that determination and you should stand behind it, regardless of how loud a few misguided and uninformed individuals scream and yell.

The few protestors in Romulus (Romulus Environmentalists Care About People, or RECAP) must have ulterior motives other than stopping EDS for "environmental" reasons. They ignore contaminated sites which need to be cleaned up, but aren't, because no money is available to pay for it. They ignore continued illegal dumping in our streams and ditches. All this just to criticize a proven form of safe liquid-waste disposal. Whenever these protestors are asked, by other citizens and reporters from our local newspapers, for evidence to back up their wild statements, they refuse and accuse the asking party of being "bought off" by EDS. (Why is it that these protestors' strongest supporters are EDS' competitors, who continue to pump toxins into our sewers and then on into our rivers and lakes?)

In conclusion, I want you to know that I, a former Senior Romulus City Councilman and long-term Romulus resident, welcome EDS' injection wells in our community and I recommend that you approve EDS' construction permit as soon as possible.

Enclosed is an editorial from this week's edition of The Romulus News (June 16, 2000; Volume 13, Number 23), also recommending that the permit be issued. According to the editorial: "... it would be morally wrong to deny EDS its permit because of objections raised by politically motivated officials or misinformed citizens."

On behalf of my neighbors, my family, and myself, please accept our apology for the ridiculous statements and accusations made by a few misguided citizens which have caused a real "black eye" on the City of Romulus.

Yours Very Truly,

Jimmie C. Raspberry ☐

"Coach of the Year" Inspired Athletes

Caburet Is Capitol Scholar

On May 9, State Representative Ray Basham invited students (from left) Nicole Woodford (Taylor Truman High School), Stephanie Ambrus (Taylor Kennedy High School), and Elizabeth Caburet (Romulus High School) to spend a day with him in Lansing for a firsthand lesson in government as part of the "Capitol Scholars" program.

Arbitrator Rules on Disputed Benefits

had been in effect for some time with full knowledge of the council ..."

Before concluding his order, Daniel also commented on the provisions that the 1995 benefit package attempted to establish. In his opinion, they "... proposed some very extraordinary benefits with considerable future cost to the city ..." and "... would seem to be far beyond what any employee in a normal employment situation could ever achieve ..."

The Reaction

Although McAnally declined to answer our questions, both Oakley and City Attorney Stephen Hitchcock were willing to comment on the decision.

"The entire sequence of events speaks for itself," said Oakley. "Obviously, the Romulus taxpayer has been taken advantage of and now must pay the bill because a few used their position to make decisions in their own best interest. What they should have done was make decisions that were in the best interest of the community."

Hitchcock also questioned the motives behind the attempted increases — particularly the one proposed in 1995.

"When Mayor Beverly McAnally challenged Oakley's victory by demanding a recount, it appeared to be a strategic move to allow her the opportunity to increase the benefit packages. She was certainly aware that the benefits in existence at the time employment ceases are those which will be effective throughout the life of the retiree, and that may have been why she terminated her appointees herself: to prevent the benefits from being changed back by the new mayor."

The exact cost that the City will incur as a result of the arbitrator's decision is not yet known. □

"Fourth of July" Travelers Staying in State To Be Up 41%

More Michiganders have Fourth of July travel plans this year than last, but a lot more will keep their travel dollars in-state, according to AAA Michigan.

High gas prices may be a factor in the decision to remain in Michigan for the holiday. More than one-third (35%) of those surveyed said higher gas prices would affect their summer travel plans in some way. On average (as of June 12), motorists will pay $2.011 – 87 cents more than last year – for a gallon of self-serve, regular unleaded gas.

According to the Auto Club survey, conducted in late May, most of the Michigan travel destinations will be in the Lower Peninsula (78%), while 20% will visit the Upper Peninsula.

Of those planning to leave the state over the Independence Day holiday, 86% will stay within the United States; 17% will visit Ohio, Virginia, New York, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Colorado are also popular out-of-state destinations.

The majority – 84% – will travel by car, truck, or van, while another 7% will use a recreational vehicle. Twenty-two percent of those surveyed said they will extend their vacation beyond the extended Fourth of July weekend, while 16% said they will work the entire week, including the Fourth of July holiday.

Based on requests received for AAA TourBook guides, TripTik routings, and maps, the top five summer destinations in Michigan are: Metro Detroit (number one), Mackinac Island (two), Mackinaw City (three), Traverse City (four), and Sault Ste. Marie (five).

Tourism in Michigan is a $9.5-billion-a-year industry, and the state remains one of the best travel values. This year, the average family of four will spend $206 daily for food and lodging in Michigan – $11 more than last year. □

Around Our School District

Ellen Bragg (back, second from left) led the 21st-century Community Learning Center's choir when it performed at Romulus High School last month for Family Fun Day. The event was sponsored by the Romulus Mayor's Drug Task Force.

Among those who celebrated the Romulus High School track team's State Championship (Division II) were (from left): Tom Dolan, Curriculum Director; Joel Carr, Superintendent; Rosalie Berlinn, paraprofessional, Romulus High School; and Ken Berlinn, Secretary, Board of Education.

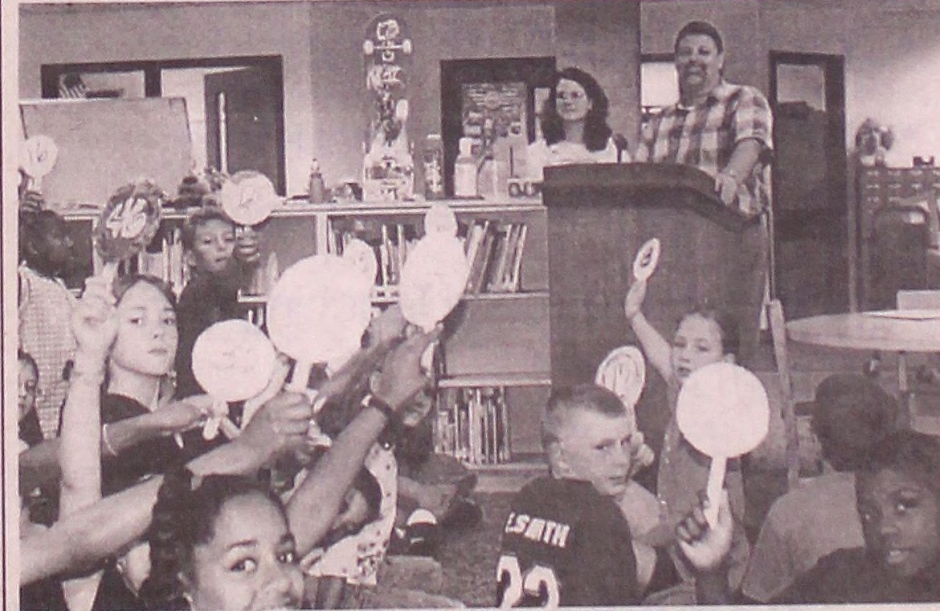

Dan Hurst, Principal of Romulus High School, and Diane Vidovic, Director of the Romulus Adolescent Health Center, are proud that Romulus has been chosen as a visitation site for the National Adolescent Health Center Conference this summer.

(From left) Tim Lewis, Deborah Anderson, and Kristina Rafalski are truly "all-around students" at Romulus Middle School. As three of four students recently recognized as "scholar athletes," they have exhibited academic proficiency as well as excellence in both athletics and music.

Romulus firefighter Larry Baxter demonstrated the range of the new firetruck hose for students at Wick Elementary School.

Students at Barth Elementary got to participate in a silent auction, spending "reward money" earned for good behavior.

Oakleys: 50 Years of Marriage

Mayor and Mrs. William M. Oakley celebrated 50 years of marriage at a family dinner reception held at the Romulus Marriott Hotel on Saturday, June 10, 2000. The party marking Bill and Mary's golden anniversary fell on the exact same date as their wedding ceremony, half a century ago.

The couple were joined at the reception by their four children – Mel and Terri Oakley, Sheila (Oakley) and Jim Stasak, Lisa (Oakley) and John Watts, and Brian and Susanne Oakley – and nine grandchildren, as well as Bill and Mary's siblings, nieces, and nephews. The festivities included dinner and Armenian and American dancing, which was particularly enjoyed by the grandchildren. □
